Fractal Dream of a Thing

Stereolab

To some reality appears normal, To me it seems vested with an important light, Particular, a light Sacred, a light To adress this universe, With nobility, emotions, As long as man will exploit man As long as humanity will Split between masters and servants, As long as man will exploit man Split between masters and servants, There will be no normality and no peace