Stereolab

What you decide to be is what you are
Your only way ahead, your way to go far
Your reasons that you do reveal who you are
The decisions in your head, it will ?

Prejudice does no service to you
Break the shackles, it's up to you
Be your own master, owe it to you

Self-doubt

It's not unreasonable to be who you are
It might mean passion, it might take a while
Struggle, conflict, causes, they all have their power

Don't let anyone but your ?

What children feel when we disappoint you?
Refuse to blink?

You can't take your life hypnotized
Don't let anyone cross your heart
You hide in the wrong side of you
You can break apart in the end

What I decide to be is what I am
What your invested with is in your command
My reasons that you do won't deal with romance
I won't restrict myself to be who I am
Toss 'em off it's the best I can do

Self doubt in my own, I still bleed
I don't want anyone, cross my heart
Don't want to be taken apart
I hide in the self
