Rainbo Conversation

yearn for romantic compassion To love is my sole aspiration For thee who has love in a million That has burnt unto consternation All those who're pig-face and dimi

Glowing for our face and our hearts Fusing at the sad transformation That has sadly altered the "balance" It had to end, became too disappointing Another end leading a new beginning I'll try again, the right one will come along I need someone intoxicating and strong

Stereolab