Catacomb

Stereophonics

I was looking downtown for a chick to lead me to the catacombs She looked me in the eye and she asked me if I trade cocaine I said you let me down twice now lead me to the painted passage I wanna fall down today

I followed her around going underground, got me buzzing You looked me in the eye, I'm not gonna lie, it's not a sin But don't she look nice, she's the center of her own attention I wanna fall down today

When I get down there, there's people painting, fucking and dan cing

The city sleeps above, I light candles in a wall of heads There's panic in the air, police have found us there, we douse the fires

Wanna fall down again

Will you help me?
