

Stitches

Stereophonics

When you're falling down
And the waves come and crash around
And you sink below all the sounds
From the storm above that's coming down

Oh after the flood
Oh here comes the sun

There's a time for love
And to feel things
There's a time for us
To heal this
And the time is now
Before time runs out

There's a time to run
And to fear things
There's a time for us
To deal with it
When the timing comes
You'll know what's right

When you're feeling down
And the days come in crashing down
And you think so low, it's all around
From the storm above that's coming down

Oh after the flood
Oh here comes the sun

There's a time for love
And to feel things
There's a time for us
To heal this
And the time is now
Before time runs out

There's a time to run
And to fear things
There's a time for us
To deal with it
When the timing comes
You'll know what's right

Every piece of me
And all the stitches in my skin keep falling out
Every piece of me
And all the stitches in my skin keep falling out

Oh after the flood
Oh here comes the sun

There's a time for love
And to feel things
There's a time for us
To heal this
And the time is now

Before time runs out

There's a time to run
And to fear things
There's a time for us
To deal with it
When the timing comes
You'll know what's right

Oh you'll know what's right
Oh you'll know what's right