

Love One Another

Steve Green

All believers dream of reaching the world
With a message of love and grace
Searching for the best way of preaching the word
To rescue the human race
The answer seems too easy, it's nothing new
A simple thing any child of God can do

Love one another
Take your brother by the hand
The world will watch in wonder
Love will make them understand
Love one another
And your love will change the world

Love is always patient, love is always kind
And always gives itself away
Love is there to serve, it doesn't seem to mind,
Never has a harsh word to say.
Slow in passing judgment, quick to forgive,
It gives its life that the world may live.

Love one another
Take your brother by the hand
The world will watch in wonder
Love will make them understand
Love one another
And your love will change the world
