

'til The End Of Time

Steve Green

The day we've waited for
A time when dreams stand still.
We make a solemn vow,
I hear you say you will.
You'll leave all others for the one you choose to take,
As you unveil your heart,
The promise that I make.

I will have you and I will hold you until the end of time.
And through the changes, life rearranges I will have you and
I will hold you until the end of time.

And as the day unfolds into a memory, I'll
Cherish you alone, your love has captured me.
The one who joined our hearts will hold us through the
Years, and in our darkest night, His promise calms our fears
