Selfish Portrait

Steve Kilbey

Got your whiskey and Coke You may appreciate this joke You seem like a decent bloke You're doing pretty well No one could never tell that

You've got your guitar by a string You may play Some Enchanted Evening You should be able to sing It's all gonna happen Oh you could never tell them

You got your white stare from a show It was some show that I could not know And it's pretty empty below Watching that shell One could never tell them

You've got your stupid stitch You may already have become rich You seem like a son-of-a-bitch Yeah, I like you very well One could never tell them