

You Don't Know

Steve Kilbey

Caught in a driving winter's rain
Two people wait for a train
They don't know where it's going to
I don't think it matters, do you?

You don't know what life is
You don't know where life is taking you
You don't know what life is taking you

Out of your hands, and out of your eyes
What comes next is just a surprise
It's getting dark, getting darker
Now I know what you're after

Caught in a driving winter's rain
Two people turn home again
They don't know where it's going to
I don't think it matters, do you?

You don't know what life is
You don't know where life is taking you
You don't know what life is
Do you
You don't know what life is
You don't know where life is taking you
You don't know where life is taking you
