

Golden Hour

Stick Figure

A long day out on the road
The clock winds down and the sun gets low
Nature's singing in the late daylight
And she'll keep on singing right into the night
I know you told me and you I know you know
I've got this yearnin' within my soul
I'm never gonna, gonna let it go
The fire's burnin' but the wind blows cold

You light the fire
The one desire
And you shall always know
Look in your heart and you'll find home

Look to the moon when the sun don't shine
It's bright in the sky it's there to make things right
Under the stars there's a world that believes
Follow your heart and keep livin' your dreams
There is a place where in the heart it knows
The winds of time change but always blow
Whatever your trouble and whatever your pain
There will always be a sunshine after the rain

You light the fire
The one desire
And you shall always know
Look in your heart and you'll find home

I miss the ocean,
A deep devotion
I find my minds most clear,
When there are waves breaking here
And now I drift away to a warm and peaceful place
And now that you see, I hope that you believe
And everything comes clear, and all of my dreams appear
Well I hope you know, I love the ocean

I love the ocean
I love the ocean
I love the ocean
I love the ocean
