

Thick & Thin

Stick Figure

open up your eyes, get lost, step out of your mind. it feels good, I promise feeling up the vibe, there ain't no where to go all i ever wanted is for you to know that god-dammit, I'm so out of it its just another dream, your part of it you cant take this gun away from me I fall back to sleep, there is nothing left for me i'll show you around the block, stay close I lye away, then I fall asleep always on my mind, always in my dream its where i want to be, its where i want to be.
take me to that place, thats where i want to be.
im so wasted, still the time is wasting my heart it keep racing, but never off the pace this time we on mission, packed with ammunition its always keeps me going, always keeps me going wake up, bright lights flash in front me this was dream but now it is reality i lost touch a very long, all wanted is something so beautiful for a minute you were gone, but now got back. and all the reasons you have given me i have given back hold it close, dont ever let it slip away through thick and the thin, you have forgive me
