

Disobedient

Stick to Your Guns

And therefore the world is you
You are the world, there is no other thing
If we accept that, if we see that not intellectually
But feel it in your heart, in your mind
In your blood that you are that, then the question
Is it possible for a human being to transform himself
Inwardly and therefore outwardly?