

For What It's Worth...

Stick to Your Guns

The best has yet to come..
All damage has been done
And we have just begun to see
What we've become.. and
I cant help but see a need
To turn this all around..
And lift ourselves up from the ground..
Because for what its worth
We can not go unsound..
And for far to long
We've been fighting more
Than singing along..
Let a new dawn arise let open our eyes..
To something new a new born youth an untold truth
There's no excuse for us use to explain out self abuse..
We have so much more to give..
We are the alternative and our voices
Will rise in unison..
We have yet to begin and
We cant let ourselves wear thin
And for what its worth our resolve
Will not see its end
