

Idolesce

Stolen Babies

I see the wire underneath your spectacle and your deceit
Secretive travesty,
who stole me skin and my teeth
I watched as you became me.
Spoke everything I want to be Grew out a shell from my dead seeds,
Blind to the hell and disease

I've no claim
Even though

You've become everything I thought I was.
You've take everything I left behind.

So who was I?
Each time,
It's the same
Bite off the face, forget the name,
On your lips no trace of shame,
On your breath the smell of remains

And I can't return
Just because

You've become everything I thought I was
You've taken everything, I left behind.