

Every Family

Stone Gossard

If you have an instrument, without any rhyme
That unprecedented crime
Conspiracy theorists take heed
It's time to bleed for every family with a fractured crown
You've had experience beyond your years
You've had your head up in the clouds
It's time to let go
Let the tears begin to flow for every family with a fractured crown
I found a guitar string; it tied me to my mother
I left it curled up in a ball, thinking I'd need it for tomorrow
If you have an instrument, without any key
Let's christen its demise
The queen and her jester's decree
It's time to bleed for every family with a fractured crown
Every family has a fractured crown
Every family has a fractured crown...