

Medusa's Coil

Stormlord

Let me tell you a story happened to me that changed my life and will chill the blood in your veins Lonely I was roaming unaware of what could lurk beyond the hills hidden in twilight's shades

Chutulu's spawn
older than time and space themselves through the cellar floor it rises Chutulu's spawn
a twisted geometry in her sight
The horror

The sky turned to black I reached for a near shelter, a gloomy house where an old host was keeping a grim tale

He told me about the girl who stole the soul of his son, she led the house to ruin and pain and still she haunts that place:

Chutulu's spawn
older than time and space themselves
through the cellar floor it rises
Chutulu's spawn
I must escape from this dark mansion Terror rising

Her long black hair it seemed to live Reminding the ancient myth of Medusa

"Do you want to see the thing upstairs?" was the old man daring me?
"Stare at her portrait and she will come back to life" and the painting started to move:
again: and again: and again
As I saw her image I understood the truth was more than meets the eye She incarnated the ancient ones that should not exist the unholy Necronomicon's forgotten breed Possessed by fear I found my hand wielding the gun shooting with frantic speed
'till the painting was destroyed
I ran away from that place and later on the road a farmer told me that that house was burnt six years ago