

Dive Right In

Story of the Year

So here i go
I'll dive right in
Break through the waves
Straight to the ocean floor

And allthough my hands are shaking
I lie perfectly still
Cause i'm determined to let myself sink down

And i know i'm buried too far down
To feel the warmth from the sun again

I could wave my arms and swim away
But never reach the shore
But for now i will lay face first in the sand
With the wreckage from shipos that lost their way

And i know i'm buried too far down
To feel the warmth from the sun again

And i know i'm buried too far down
To feel the warmth from the sun again

And allthough my hands are shaking
I lie perfectly still
Cause i'm determined to let myself sink down

And i know i'm buried too far down
To feel the warmth from the sun again
