

We're Not Gonna Make It

Story of the Year

Oh, he steps a shot foot into the room
She knows that this day's been long over due
And now as the tears fall down her face
The pain is real and it's starting to show

She says again
We're not gonna make it
(We're not gonna make it)
Until the lines that divide start to fade away
We're not gonna make it
(We're not gonna make it)
Until the lines that divide start to fade away

And with a whisper she mumbles through
Well, I guess they just won't accept me and you
They see a difference in skin
But I thought that love was always true

Who would have known
That in a search for a parent's love
Her happiness though was just not enough
(Just not enough)
She tries to keep it inside
But through these hopeless eyes, the world isn't mine

She says again
We're not gonna make it
(We're not gonna make it)
Until the lines that divide start to fade away
We're not gonna make it
(We're not gonna make it)
Until the lines that divide start to fade away

(I'll show you)
The line start to fade away
(I'll show you)
The line start to fade away
(I know I can show you that I'm not afraid, no)

(Because tomorrow will come)
You know I'm not afraid
(And we will no longer run)
You know I'm not afraid
(Because tomorrow will come)
And I am not afraid, not afraid

We're not gonna make it
Until the lines that divide start to fade away
We're not gonna make it
Until the lines that divide start to fade away

We're not gonna make it
(We're not gonna make it)
Until the lines that divide start to fade away
We're not gonna make it
(We're not gonna make it)
Until the lines that divide start to fade away

(I'll show you)
The line starts to fade away
(I'll show you)
The line starts to fade away
(I'll show you)
This line start to fade
It all starts to fade
It all starts to fade away, oh
