Exodus

Straight Line Stitch

I thought I'd begun to see the light but shadows appeared and this is just like I feared, no path is clear

I'll run away, won't look behind me Cut all strings and set myself free let go of everything (that hurts me)

How did I get here? Can I just make myself disappear? I can't live another day like this Not knowing what it is I'm fighting against

I want to be free

Dear God, why am I running away? (Why am I running away?)

Please ease my pain / Please let me start again
I'm starting over, I begin again (I've seen the truth)
