

Higher Ground

Barbra Streisand

Walk me over
this horizon
let the sun's light
warm my face
once again the times are changin once again i lost my way well the words of ancient poets fall like dust upon my shoes grief has robbed me of my vision turned my heart from higher truths
so take my hand
and lift me higher
be my love and my desire
hold me safe
and honor bound
take my heart to
higher ground

I have walked
too long in darkness
I have walked
too long alone
blindly clutching
fists of diamonds
that i found were only stones i would trade the wealth of ages for a warmer hand to hold the path of light is narrow but it leads to streets of gold
so take my hand
and lift me higher
be my love and my desire
hold me safe
and honor bound
take my heart to
higher ground

in this world
we move through shadows
never sure
of what we see
while the truth that lies between us come and share the truth with me
so take my hand
and lift me higher
be my love and my desire
hold me safe
and honor bound
take my heart to
higher
higher ground

hmmmmmm hmmm hmmmmmm hmmmmmm