

Leading With Your Heart

Barbra Streisand

Mmmm, Mmmm,
Once upon a time
I was afraid
Of letting go
letting someone in
my feelings stayed
behind a door that had no key leading with my heart
never was for me
living in my mind
running away
till someone's arms
caught me by surprise
I never knew
the power of love that I suppose deep in every heart
there's a part that knows listen to it's voice for it whispers what your dreams are made of so why be afraid of what you know is true
every day you learn
leading with your heart
can lift you higher
where your hearts desire will be waiting for you follow what you feel
feelings are wise
believe your heart
as you believe your eyes and like a child
who's wandered off and lost its way you can find a place where you soul believes that your home to stay
follow what you feel
anywhere it goes
believe your heart
trusting that it knows
as the dark of night
will always find the light of day listening with your heart you will hear it say
leading with your heart
you will find your way