Evilution

Stuck Mojo

I watch you be consumed by your own weakness It's a sickness and I've been a witness No pride no respect the image you project It's a sickness and I've been a witness

The sickness inside of you It eats you deletes you The haze that you live in It rapes you it breaks you

I watch you travel down the path of evilution Your words they sicken me Where's the solution The life you lead is soulless pollution You seem to live your life in total confusion

Step up, you can front if you want to

You're a slave and a slug to your favorite drug You're half a man, your own biggest fan I often visualize this world Without your filthy presence And I stand pissin' on your grave Without a sense of reverence

A disease of society Stranger to sobriety You're half a man, your own biggest fan
