Heroes

Subhumans

Here comes the hero At temperature zero Warming his hands on the crowd He says "now that I've changed I'm exactly the same" But nobody hears cos the cheering's too loud

Hypocrisy on a massive scale Hero/cult/revolutionary It's all a show But now we know All they want is your money

Hero lost his conscience, yes But now he's getting serious "Forget the system, let's have fun" Hero! Take the money and run!

The heroes are forgotten now Floundered on their reputation The old elite Came off the street And wound up as an institution

The next generation won't produce The heroes and the fashion freaks There's nothing new In what we do Just commitment and beliefs