Too Fat, Too Thin

Subhumans

What size are you supposed to be?
Too fat, too thin, too scared – all three
The pounds and ounces hierarchy
Of processed people in 3D

Don't lose weight you need to survive
Just to live up to their lies
All those smiles and patron-eyes
Are how your looks get stigmatized

I'm so thin
I'm so fat
I couldn't give a shit about that
You're so beautiful it sets me free
You're just the way you're meant to be

Pressure to change to fit the size
That sells the shit they advertise
Leads to a culture of disguise
And several teenage suicides

I'm so thin
I'm so fat
I couldn't give a shit about that
You're so beautiful it sets me free
You're just the way you're meant to be

Overstressed and underweight
Or overweight and under-rated
In the struggle to be "average"

You're just the way you're meant to be (3x)

I'm so thin
I'm so fat
I couldn't give a shit about that
You're so beautiful it sets me free
You're just the way you're meant to be