

(Introducing Brian Klemm)

Mama always told me that the girls would come and go
But once you reached inside my heart you never let it go

It's the feeling that will never escape me (never escape me)

I gotta have this girl and now I won't accept it maybe
This feeling I have got me burning inside

And the only release I can find in my sight is

Oh my Natasha I adore you

I'm always dreaming of you

And I want to paint you on my arm

So we will never be apart

I'll do anything it takes to be with you,

And all I'm asking in return is darling

Love me true, love me true

I tell my soul a million times to give another hour

But you and me together now, we're finally going blind

Your the feeling that will never escape me (never escape me)

I gotta have this girl and now I won't accept it maybe

The loving, the missing, the fighting, the dissing

The hugging, the kissing, the loving, the missing

She is fine (she is fine) all of the time (all of the time)

Why'd it ever take me so long

And now you've got into my veins

And pumping through my heart

But now your close together now, we finally break apart

This feeling I have got me burning inside

And the only release I can find in my sight is

The hugging, the kissing, the loving, the missing

Cuz baby, baby I do