

When You Were Young

Suede

When you were young
There were muddled plans and distant drums

When you were young
there was nothing right and nothing wrong

You would play in the maze
'Till your mother she called you away