

Impossible Soul

Sufjan Stevens

Ooh. Woman, tell me what you want
And I'll calm down without bleeding out
With a broken heart that you stabbed for an hour
Woman, too, I was freaking out because I want you to know
My beloved, you are the lover of my impossible soul
And woman, too, promise you'll stay and put off all your woes
I was wiggling out, too much worry, I could not get you at all
And you said what you want, you would laugh it off
But I know you won't go, not for any less
Must you write it off for the impossible soul
And I was in a dream, I was gone away without you, but not too slow
Lest I put it off, 'for I put it right for the impossible soul
And all I couldn't sing, I would say it all my life, to you, if I could get you at all
Don't be a wreck, trying to be something that I wasn't at all
Seems I got it wrong, I was chasing after something that was gone
To the black of night, now I know it's not what I wanted at all
And you said something like,
