Rise! Rise! Rise!

Suicidal Tendencies

She has dead flowers in her hair But the pain blooms in her mind And if anyone had carred It would scare them what they'd find As her eyes said: "Can you help, can you help me?" And her pain pleads: "Please, please, help me!" And her silent screams are begging you to help me, please Now her soul whispers: "Why?" So many reasons to die for I just need one to live Another reason to die for It's so sad, sad, sad No one can see it She's so sad, sad, sad And nobody is there She's so sad, sad, sad She feels all alone It's so sad, sad, sad We're always too late to care All these reasons to die for How about just one to live? Another reason to die for Just give me one to live I'm still haunted by the scene Never was there a pain as real And as hard as you can try and try to deny and deny There's just too much guilt to conceale It's so sad, sad, sad No one can see it Cause her eyes said: "Can you help, can you help me?" She's so sad, sad, sad And nobody is there As her pain pleads: "Please, please, help me, please, please, help me!" She's so sad, sad, sad She feels all alone And her silence screams are begging you to help me, please It's so sad, sad, sad We're always too late to care And now her soul whispers: "Goodbye!" Another reason to die for Give me one to live All these reasons to die for Aren't we dying to live? All these reasons to die for How about one to live? So many reasons to die for When we're dying to live

I want you to rise, rise up and shine! I want you to rise, rise up and shine! I want you to rise, rise up and shine! I want you to rise, rise up and shine!
