Walk into flames that you start with yourself
So get help while you can to pull meat from bones
Burn down your home
Create a diversion to buy yourself time
To give thanks to the ones who are all alone
You're all alone
These hives, they break into your skin like a thief
They rob you of life while you sleep
So you cut and you cut 'til there's nothing left
This paper posed as photographs
This promise snapped with time elapsed
You think you do, but you don't know me at all
If you don't believe in God, you will now
I've got hooks and a chain that will fit you well
So save your air
I've locked your personal things in a box
And if you try to scream I won't ever tell
I won't ever tell
These hives, they break into your skin like a
This paper posed as photographs
This promise snapped with time elapsed
You think you do, but you don't know me at all
Last chance to find what we believe
I hope you save those you've deceived
You think you do, but you don't know me at all
You can't hold your breath forever
This paper posed as photographs
This promise snapped with time elapsed
You think you do, but you don't know me at all
Last chance to find what we believe
I hope you save those you've deceived
You think you do, but you don't know me at all
(You can't hold your breath forever)
This paper posed as photographs
This promise snapped with time elapsed
You think you do, but you don't know me at all
Last chance to find what we believe (If you don't believe)
I hope you save those you've deceived (Trust me, you will)
You think you do (If you don't believe)
But you don't know me at all (Trust me, you will)
Know me at all
If you don't believe, trust me, you will
