Twisted by Design

Sum 41

I've got my scars to bare
Stitches just can't repair, woaah
There's no one to blame this time
Absolution's waiting on the prayer

I'm breaking down the walls
Bailing my share of falls
There is blood on my hands. Is it blessing
In a lifetime twisted by design

[But I am so alive!]

Is it a threat or the cure
Cause it's a brand new world
I don't know if I am ready for
Just a test?
Cause I'm miles above you flying with no safetiness
I don't believe in fate although
This time I think I've met my match
Why all the dreams so hard to catch?
Cause if you get in time
What it feels inside
We live right on the line

[But I am so alive!]

They say believing is the hardest part
But I say with every beating of my heart
I alone will find my way
To get right back to the start
They say the fire in your heart is gone
But I say its really only just began
All I know you know that I am
I'm twisted by design
I'm twisted by design

I'm taking the days as they come
Now I seeing the world as if it had a thousand suns
I admit that the somewhere along the lands
I guess I lost my grip
But luck has turned the page and time is all
I need to get things right
One more chance to catch the light
Cause you forget in time
What it feels inside
We live right on the line

[But I am so alive!]

They say believing is the hardest part
But I say with every beating of my heart
I alone will find my way
To get right back to the start
They say the fire in your heart is gone
But I say its really only just began
All I know you know that I am
I'm twisted by design

Starting over again
But the further I get
I can't stop these wall from closing in
Going out of my head
All the tears that I bled
Are not enough
To take my pain away!

They say believing is the hardest part
But I say with every beating of my heart
I alone will find my way
To get right back to the start
They say the fire in your heart is gone
But I say its really only just began
All I know you know that I am
I'm twisted by design

In some ways I've changed
And I've left it all behind
But I can't change the way that
I'm twisted by design