

Half Moon Bay

Sun Kil Moon

The saddest eyes she wore
So long and then forlorn
It made me love you more and more

The bluest heart she owns
As she gets more and more alone
As the deepest cello drones

The oldest yard cat sings
Her mournful bellowing
From branches in the trees

The stillest ocean's wrath
With them bring havoc and death
Upon the land they'll sweep

The painful midnight cry
When one leaves the world behind
Leaves the world be...
Leaves the world behind

And here in Half Moon Bay

Hear the hum of the highway
The hum of the high...
The hum of the highway

High-way One
Grey clouds, muted suns

Down by the footbridge stream
I am walking in a dream
Wailing in my dreams

Cause wintertime was through
I cannot be there for you
I couldn't care for you

And hear the traffic come
Down the old Highway One
Down the Devil's Slide it runs

And nothing clears these stains
Not the January rains
Rising in the stream

And by the bay leaf tree
A Lonely bird eyes me
Lonely bird eyes...
Lonely bird eyes me

Under the blue moon beams
I am wandering in my dreams
Wandering in my...
Wandering in a dream

High-way One, Grey clouds, muted sun

High-way One, Grey clouds, muted sun
