

What If You Don't Fly

Superdrag

So long goodbye.
I never cried that much for you
But that's a lie just like the book you're seeing through
You don't know why you hate the human things you do
But when you die lover you'll be sorry sorry
'cause when you die what if you don't fly?
Your righteous life has only been

A stifled chance to find out what that thing was for
So take a chance you don't convince me anymore
You need a screw, you need to cast away your blinds
'cause when I blew all the elation wasn't mine

And when you find oh yeah God was in your mind
Your righteous life has only been
A righteous lie, oh yeah, open up your eyes
