

Life so long ago
sitting there
at the break of dawn
all alone
n without a care unaware of what lies ahead
the growing, the loving my heart starts racing the living, the dying
all so amazing
the laughing, the crying
like too much candy
then it all goes hazy
and you're pushing up the daisies

the world just keeps on turning with this course of nature can anybody show me
why we try to break this feels it's kind of crazy
is everybody insane
the only home we have here love we take for granted live it all as you can seize the day

with both your hands
the growing, the loving your heart starts racing the living, the trying
all so amazing
the laughing, the crying
like too much candy
then it all goes hazy
and you're pushing up the daisies

the world just keeps on turning
with this course of nature
can anybody show me
why we try to break this
feels it's kind of crazy
is everybody insane
the only home we have here
love we take for granted

who's got to have a reason all have to help and save it we just can't be so damn lazy