

The Beach

Support Lesbiens

Feel I've just outgrown all this looking charmed for this life time I'm lucky not to be on my own no cause, as I head off into the sun far away from the dreadhead pretenders who think that their underground as I'm sitting on the beach don't wanna admit to defeat cause I'm living on the beach what I try is I persist

so whatever we can say
gets twisted about today
what chance have we to be the only ones to see the sun who knows blind
together all alone
could it ever be just the same
I want to feel we're the only ones which ever way we go
did you ever wonder why now here I am believing there's a chance to turn it all around to win a little back from myself just cause they will never be so outgunned leave me here to plead for surrender with my friend the underground

it will just never be the same
