

Rhythm of Your Heart

Survivor

Just opened your letter, read it at least a thousand times
I look through a teardrop and read between the lines
A suitcase of dreams with one left behind
I wonder out loud if love can survive through time and tide

Then you send a message in the dark
And I feel the rythm of your heart
When all my illusions fall apart
There's only the rythm of your heart

Here in the spotlight, I miss you from each and every stage
I open my heart and turn another page
Another day gone and still I'm alone
Seems like I'm just always just a song away from home

Then you send a message in the dark
And I feel the rythm of your heart
When all my illusions fall apart
There's only the rythm of your heart

Just opened your letter, read it at least a thousand times
I look through a teardrop and read between the lines
A suitcase of dreams with one left behind

Then you send a message in the dark
And I feel the rythm of your heart
When all my illusions fall apart
There's only the rythm of your heart