

Brothers, take my hands
And let us now indulge ourselves
In our very secret loves
And in our labyrinthine ways
We say our very secret prayers
While I close my eyes
Asking only for myself tonight
And I'm assured that: These are our dreams
And they are so exclusive
So exclusive
These are our dreams
And they are so exclusive
So exclusive
Wrapped in that blanket of our stars
That we may lose ourselves, their lights
They barely scratch the subway walls
And mine, they never go outside
I've got my eyes shut tight
Against the doorway
I'm secure
Asking only for myself tonight
And I'm assured that: These are our dreams
And they are so exclusive
So exclusive
So there.....