

Poison

Suzie McNeil

There was something they said to you
I've thought about it everyday since you're gone
And I hate what they gave to you
But a little bit of poison still makes you strong
And you're a little bit more than they ever did see
Now you're bigger than life but you've never been free
There's a noise in your head and it gets in your face
But some how they can't take you down

Chorus

Too many questions
Nobody answers
And I need some truth here tonight
And all that you run from Somehow it finds you
And a little bit of poison still make you strong

Now your secrets been safe with me
You've been keep it to yourself for too long
And the world is still waiting to see, all the beautiful crazy things you've become
And you're a little bit more then they ever did see
Now you're bigger than life and a little bit free
You know what you want when you get what you need
That's something you said to me

Chorus

You want to deny all of the lights
But don't try to hide them from me
You want to fight but you left behind
But I need to make you see
You better run to me

Chorus
