

No Green Eyes

Suzy Bogguss

In my heart there always crept a jealousy that never slept
It lived on calls that never came, and whispers of another's name

But your love is a light that shines so honestly
And now because of your true colors I can see

No green eyes, no blue nights
No jealous heart and no little white lies
You showed me what love looks like
I had the colors all wrong, now they're right
No green eyes, no blue nights

Your arms laid to rest the fear, and let suspicion disappear
There are no ghosts of lovers past, just our love in the hourglass
And what you give me is so constant and so surely mine
That I can trust it's unconditional this time

No green eyes, no blue nights
No jealous heart and no little white lies
You showed me what love looks like
I had the colors all wrong, now they're right
No green eyes, no blue nights
You showed me what love looks like
No green eyes, no blue nights, no green eyes
