Perfume

Like perfume that runs around your skin In liquid That golden aroma I see you Baby don't run away from me You fought it This everlasting game Now trust it 'Cause we are all the same Don't fight it Baby don't run away from me Perfume Bitter as gold That was how you left me Now I can see This new world But I will not falter again A winter Has brought you to your knees Now summer Is begging of you please Don't fight it Baby don't run away from me Perfume Bitter as gold That was how you left me Now I can see This new world But I will not falter again I try to have it all I'll change it all for you I stumble and I fall But I can stand again Perfume Bitter as gold That was how you left me Now I can see This new world But I will not falter again
