Fever of Love

You took the apple from the tree And gave the fruits of love to me But love is blind I couldn't see Those neon nights you'd left behind You should have laid it on the line Procrastination stole my time

The day has come the years will go by Things have changed have opened my eyes And she tried to hide the feeling inside But you know and you know and you know

The fever of love is like a hundred above You are the one that turns me on

The fever of love is like a hundred above I got you under my skin you are my adrenalin

I've got your love in my veins It's gonna ease the pain in my heart In my heart

Good vibrations came today God only knows they're gonna stay But psychic ways can fade away You were the guardian of my soul Who'll turn my memories to gold I'll still be younger when I'm older

I'm feeling high on pure emotion I know I could cry an ocean And I can't hide my feeling inside But you know and you know and you know

The fever of love is like a hundred above

The fever of love is like a hundred above

The fever of love . . .
