All control is lost Senses deprived Deaf ears still hear the malign The altars crumbling Cloak of obscurity A crown wrapped tight around you neck Gaunt hands to hold you back I've seen the world in a new light No holy shrines Nothing to resemble eternal life Now turning back I see, What could have been but never was A pressure so dense, Upon my chest it could paralyze Lucid A mask forced upon me Impaled by fear

Stones drag to the riverbed below
Below
Death is here
And he's been clawing at my thoughts again
Forever drowning in perdition
Submerged in azure waters