

The Smile Has Left Your Eyes

Sylver

Words

are sometimes hard to find

Silence

can be so unkind

You play with love like you play with words

Can't you see, it's me you hurt?

Now my dreams turn into dust

It wasn't love

It was only lust

Words

are sometimes hard to find

Silence

can be so unkind

You're not the same

You're playing game

You've filled my heart with your lies

You're not the same

You're playing game

The smile has left your eyes

Words

are sometimes hard to find

Silence

can be so unkind

You play with love like you play with words

Can't you see, it's me you hurt?

Love is always a losing game

I pack my bags and forget your name

You're not the same

You're playing game

You've filled my heart with your lies

You're not the same

You're playing game

The smile has left your eyes