

Death Has Come

Symphorce

What do we see and who's to blame
I'm ripped, I burst at the seams
There's nothin' new where do they come from Bringin' me down to my knees
You turn my fears into your needs
Visions of hate just keep me alive
So many words lost in time
Right on the edge between death & life
How we feel inside
Screams arise from ancient halls
Where no one dares to stand beside
When death has come into your dreams
Where memories are ripping you from my mind
What was said to come stirring you dream
You hear the screaming, it's all the same
Before the thread disappears
I wonder how you can pretend yourself
Blood soaks and hides your tears
Gathered all your answers & learn to let go
Not easy to drown in this life
Sheds that skin from my face
I'm the destroyer of life