Breakable

Systematic

You place your hate on me and never feel your wrong The words for war you will soon regret The time has come for me to show you what sets us apart I'm the one, I'm the man, that cannot be bent

Can't you see you're falling And I'm the one still standing Then you'll know you're fucked 'Cause I know you're so breakable

You seem to think I'm the dirt on which you walk And when this ground gives way, no you won't forget This time will be the last time I deal with it I'm the one, I'm the man, with your death intent

Can't you see you're falling And I'm the one still standing Then you'll know you're fucked 'Cause I know you're so breakable

You can't take it back now The words you have thrown around What comes around, goes around And I won't change my ways to fit inside your world