Undead

Tad Morose

Empty shelves, hollow corridors A daunting smell, never felt before Compassion breaking down In time we lose ourselves, anyway

A strange emotion fill the air The second seal, cracked up, unfair I force the needle through my spine No savior burning, hammer on...

Still chained to the world Oh, our circle still turns It's not fair, it's not fair undead