It's funny how your life can change Memories of love remain Inside your heart for all this time At last you find a different road And suddenly you're not alone A game of love rests upon your mind I could feel the love like steel It's like a sense you have inside You never knew How can it be that you love me All that I've seen who really want your love and all? How can it be that you and me So desperately need each other everyday? And what does it mean that you want me? Now it's for real today, yeah At time it's easy to forget All the things you once regret And never learn to pay the price Someday the rain will fall within Remember, face it don't give in And watch the bad times pass you by I could feel the love like steel It's like a sense you have inside You never knew How can it be that you love me All that I've seen who really want your love and ohh? How can it be that you and me So desperately need each other everyday? And what does it mean that you want me? Now it's for real today, yeah I could feel the love like steel It's like a sense you have inside You never knew, oh yeah How can it be that you love me All that I've seen who really want your love and ohh? How can it be that you and me So desperately need each other everyday? And what does it mean that you want me? Now it's for real today, yeah
