There's a place we used to be There's a face that I used to see There's a picture with you by my side There's a moment that I want to find.

I don't know where to start Or how to begin But I know I love you still.

If you ever turn away
If you ever change your mind
If the road ahead becomes too hard to climb
If there's something in your heart that tells you to stop
Oh to hold you close tonight
I'd wait for life.

There's a voice shouting inside my head There's a space on your side of the bed There's a hope every time there's a sound There's a silence that's playing too loud

I don't know how you are Or how you may be But I know I love you still.

If I close my eyes
I'll dream a little deeper baby
Cause you are always on my mind
Yeah you are always on my mind
For life.
