

Circles

Tamar Braxton

Take a look at myself in the mirror
With these tears streaming down my face
Thinking how did I let myself get here
When I know, I should've walked away
Cause I'm sick of the same things
Over and over and over again with you

You drug my heart through the ground
Left it all battered and bruised
Done fighting this battle with you

I can't keep going in circles
Circles, going in circles
Round and round and round and round with you

I'm scared but I know what's at cost
Leaves me with the deepest scars
Cut me open now I'm bleeding with hurt so sharp
Foolish of me to believe
Things would be different this time
Can't say I ain't tried but we just keep living a lie
I'm sick of the same thing
Over and over and over again with you

You drug my heart through the ground
Left it all battered and bruised
Done fighting this battle with you

I can't keep going round in circles
Circles, going in circles
Round and round and round and round with you

After all of the things we've been through
Can't imagine myself without you
Take me through all these changes
And to share you, I just can't do
Taken all of my love for granted
Made me a fool
And I'm done with this breaking
I'm aching in circles with you

You drug my heart through the ground
Left it all battered and bruised
I'm done fighting this battle with you

I can't keep going in circles
Circles, circles
Round and round and round and round with you
Round and round and round and round with you
