

Thanking You

Tank

All out of pieces, all out of parts
All out of moves, all out of cards
All out of reason, all out of hope
All out of seasons, all out of growth
All out of joy, all out of sun
All out of laughter, all out of fun

I'm running out of the things that protect my heart
From this side of hurt I can see that I'm broken apart

Leaving me and telling me I could use some work
Thought that I would die cause of how much it hurt
But I'm thanking you, I'm thanking you
Finding all the answers in every tear I cry
I ain't right for nobody if I ain't already right
So I'm thanking you, I'm thanking you

All out of rope, all out of chances
All out of songs, all out of dances
All out of umbrella, shelter for the rain
Been lost these things, been feelin' this pain
I gave you less, I thought I had more
Forgot all those pieces back there on the floor

I'm running out of the things that protect my heart
From this side of hurt I can see that I'm broken apart

Leaving me and telling me I could use some work
Thought that I would die cause of how much it hurt
But I'm thanking you, I'm thanking you
Finding all the answers in every tear I cry
I ain't right for nobody if I ain't already right
So I'm thanking you, I'm thanking you

I've been broke so long
This fight is over me, find my way
And I know I'm gon be complete some day

Leaving me and telling me I could use some work
Thought that I would die cause of how much it hurt
But I'm thanking you, I'm thanking you
Finding all the answers in every tear I cry
I ain't right for nobody if I ain't already right
So I'm thanking you, I'm thanking you
