

Your Face

Taylor Swift

I heard a song tonight on the radio
Another girl sings about a boy
She sees his face in every space - every room
And I know
If I turn around you won't be there
If I close my eyes will you be there?

I don't wanna lose your face
I don't wanna wake up one day and not remember what time erased

I don't wanna turn around
Cause I'm not scared of what love gave me and took away
And I don't wanna lose your face

I got a picture of you in my bedroom
I hope it never falls
I hope I never lose that feeling I used to get when you'd call
And I wonder to myself
Who were you?
Where are you?
Where you ever here at all?

I don't wanna lose your face
I don't wanna wake up one day and not remember what time erased

I don't wanna turn around
Cause I'm not scared of what love gave me and took away
And I don't wanna lose your face

That girl in the song had it so good
I wish I could close my eyes and see you
I wish the sky had your face
And the oceans had your eyes
And the sunset had your lips and
I had you

I don't wanna lose your face
I don't wanna wake up one day and not remember what time erased

I don't wanna turn around
Cause I'm not scared of what love gave me and took away
And I don't wanna lose your face
